Biography of Mr. Tan Kah Kee

Mr. Tan Kah Kee was born on October 21, 1874 to an overseas business family in Jimei (formerly a small village of Tongan County), Xiamen, Fujian. At the age of 17, he travelled to Singapore to work at his father's shop. After years of hard work, he gained great success and was known as the 'Rubber Magnate' of the Southeast Asia. Bearing in mind that 'education is vital to the development of the nation and running a school is the due responsibility of the people, he returned home in 1913. He established Jimei Schools including Kindergarten, Primary School, Middle School, Teachers' College, Fisheries, Navigation, Business, Agronomy and Xiamen University thereafter. During the anti-Japanese war, he was elected councilor for Nanyang Overseas Chinese Chamber for Relief – a Fund-raising for Charity for the Refugees of the Motherland. He made tremendous contributions to the victory of the Chinese anti-Japanese war and gained high respect from compatriots at home and abroad. In 1949, Tan Kah Kee moved back to China and was appointed Vice Chairmen of the CPPCC, Member of the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress, and the first Chairman of the Chinese Federation of Overseas Chinese. He passed away on August 12, 1961.

Tan Kah Kee is a renowned patriotic overseas Chinese leader, an outstanding entrepreneur, an educator, and social activist. With deep love for his motherland, he invested all his fortunes in education and offered his selfless service for the benefit of humanity. He made tremendous contributions to the independence and liberation of the motherland. Mao Zedong praised and called him "the flag of the overseas Chinese and the glory of the nation". In memory of Tan Kah Kee for his special contributions, on March 11, 1990, the International Asteroid Center and Asteroid Nomination Committee named him Asteroid 2963 'Tan Kah Kee Star.'

A Letter of Correspondence from President Xi Jinping

In October, 2014, on the occasion of the 140th Anniversary of the birth of Mr. Tan Kah Kee, General Secretary of the CPC, President of PRC and Chairman of the Military Commission of CPC Xi Jinping sent a letter of correspondence to Xiamen Jimei Alumni Association, calling for the overseas Chinese to promote the "Tan Kah Kee Spirit" – be patriotic and strive for the realization of the dream of the national rejuvenation – together with the people in the motherland.

The following is the content of the letter by President Xi:

On this special occasion of the 140th Anniversary of the birth of Mr. Tan Kah Kee, I cherish my profound memory of him and extend my sincere greetings to his families and relatives.

Mr. Tan Kah Kee is "the flag of the overseas Chinese and the glory of the nation". I worked in Fujian for many years, and I fully acknowledged the great contributions he had made to his motherland, especially for his hometown, Fujian. Being the leader and a good example for overseas Chinese, he is patriotic and devoted himself to education as a career. He joined the national salvation movement, promoted unity among overseas Chinese, and strived for the liberation of the nation. His spirit of hard work and self-striving to attain a goal, his virtue of putting the nation and the country first, and his concern for the development of the country, as well as his sincerity to the cause of education are always worth learning.

The realization of the great rejuvenation of China as a nation is the common aspiration of Chinese at home and abroad. It is also the lifelong pursuit of Mr. Tan Kah Kee and our forefathers. I hope the overseas Chinese will continue to promote the "Tan Kah Kee's Spirit" – be patriotic and strive for the recognition of the dream of the national rejuvenation – together with the people in the motherland.

APPLICATION GUIDE TO XIAMEN UNIVERSITY TAN KAH KEE SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 2024 INTAKES

ABOUT XIAMEN UNIVERSITY

Xiamen University (XMU), founded in 1921 by renowned patriotic overseas Chinese leader Mr. Tan Kah Kee, was the first Chinese university established by an overseas Chinese person. XMU has long been listed among China's leading universities on the national 211 Project, 985 Project and Double First-Class Initiative, which was launched by the Chinese government to support selected universities in achieving world class status. Nestled snugly between green hills and the blue sea, XMU is renowned as one of the most beautiful universities around the world for its excellent education facilities and beautiful environment.

Motto: Pursue Excellence and Strive for Perfection

The phrase "Pursue Excellence" can be traced to the Book of Changes, a canonized Confucian classic containing the following sentence: "As the movement of the heavens is forever dynamic, so the superior man pursues excellence all his life." This phrase was hung over the podium at XMU's inauguration ceremony on April 6, 1921 and stressed by Mr. Tan Kah Kee as a commitment to excellence when the University was being founded. It reaffirmed China's determination to resume its rightful place in the world.

The phrase "Strive for Perfection" is taken from the chapter of Great Learning in the Classic of Rites, in which great learning is defined as the ability to explain and exemplify virtues, to show love and concern for people, and to strive for perfection. It was the motto of the University designated by President Lim Boon Keng when XMU was a private university.

The emblem of Xiamen University was designated by Mr. Tan Kah Kee upon the founding of the University. At the top of the circle are the four traditional Chinese characters for "Xiamen University", while at the bottom are the words of "Xiamen University" in Latin – UNIVERSITAS AMOENSIS. The three stars on the shield represent spirit, universe and human beings, which are the three major elements in nature in the theory of traditional Chinese philosophy. The gate at the center of the shield represents the University's commitment to opening its doors to talent. The four Chinese characters on the ribbon mean "striving for perfection", which is part of XMU's motto.
